

Formulation Principal Scientist – Product Development (Solid Oral Dosage)

Oryza Pharmaceuticals, Inc. is seeking a Formulation Principle Scientist Product Development Department in Coral Springs, Florida.

JOB DESCRIPTION

- Member of a team of formulation development scientists and engineers. Serve as project lead on assigned programs in development strategy, planning and execution.
- Responsible for formulation design and process development of oral solid dosage form drug products during various stages of development from bench scale to pilot, pivotal and commercial manufacturing.
- Lead the transfer of formulation and process to late stage development group and to CRO/CMOs
- Support technical transfer and clinical batch manufacture activities
- Responsible for hands on laboratory and pilot plant work
- Support regulatory filing activities
- Apply technical expertise in developing conventional and enabling formulation and process
- Travel domestic and international. Lead formulation development projects and work closely with cross-functional team members. Partner with project leaders to manage budgets, resources and timelines to complete parenteral and oral solid dose projects.

QUALIFICATIONS

- Expertise in ANDA filing concepts, QbD, ICH, etc.. Have successfully submit ANDA in solid oral dosage form product preferred.
 - Demonstrated experience with the development of oral solid dose formulation and process from bench to pilot and pivotal batch scale using conventional and enabling approaches.
 - Experience with running equipment and unit operations required for oral solid dose manufacturing.
 - Good verbal and written communication skills; good problem-solving abilities; and good organizational skills.
 - Demonstrate leadership skills in leading multiple projects and matrix team.
-

EDUCATION

Ph.D. in Pharmaceutics or Chemical Engineering with 5-7 years or MS with 8-10 years' of experience in solid oral dosage form drug product development.

Qualified candidates should submit their resumes directly to career@oryzapharma.com.

About Oryza Pharmaceuticals, Inc.

Oryza Pharmaceutical, Inc. is a privately owned company, with primary research and development operations based in Coral Springs, Florida, USA. We engage in the development, manufacture, marketing, distribution and sale of specialty pharmaceutical products primarily in the United States and China. Oryza is dedicated to developing affordable branded and generic pharmaceutical products of high efficacy, safety and quality. We also form strategic R&D partnerships with companies in selected product areas.

Four large, light blue, abstract shapes resembling stylized leaves or petals are positioned in the bottom right corner of the page. They are arranged in a cluster, with some overlapping, and have smooth, rounded edges.